Right of Access to Information Act (OG 25/13, 85/15) (hereinafter: RAIA) provides all domestic and foreign natural and legal persons, in the same way and under the same conditions, the right of access to information. The right of access to information and the re-use of information includes the user's right to seek and receive information as well as the obligation of public authorities to provide access to the requested information, or to publish information independently of a request when such disclosure is derived from obligations defined by law or other regulation.

RAIA defines the principles of the right of access to information and the re-use of information, restrictions of the right of access to information and the re-use of information, the procedure for the realisation and protection of the rights of access to information and the re-use of information.

Stari Grad Museum informs the public through its official website (msg.hr) with documents and information in its possession that is publicly available in electronic form and can be accessed without making a specific request. Access to all other information and documents is achieved by submitting an oral or written request. If a request is made in person or by phone, official record shall be made, and if it is filed by electronic communication it shall be deemed to have been submitted by a written request. Stari Grad Museum will decide on the request for information by no later than 15 days after the filing of a proper request.
